THERE HAVE BEEN 16 flags over California since 1542.

Or did you know that? We didn't.

We are indebted to Cal-Farm insurance companies for this bit of information.

It was the theme of the annual report of that insurance firm.

As a rule, we can take these reports of these huge outfits or we can leave 'em alone.

And we generally take the latter course.

Although we barely glanced at the figures in the annual report, we did read the other information pertaining to the flags over California that was contained in the 12-page annual report printed in four colors.

The first flag was that of Cabrillo and the Spanish Empire on September 28, 1542. Since that time 15 other flags have flown over California, though some for only a few hours.

Although we are considered a history buff of a minor league status, we were not aware that there had been 16 flags in our state's history.

The back cover of the report has pictures of all the flags designed for framing.

This marks another first for us.

Never before have we felt that an annual report or a part of same was worth framing.

QUITE FRANKLY WE had no idea there had been 16 flags in our state's history.

We would have named only five, Spanish, Russian, Mexican, Bear Flag and U.S., before we had seen the report.

Of course, some of the flags are sort of repeats. For example, there was the first one, Cabrillo and the Spanish Empire Flag in 1542 and the third one was Vizcaino and the flag of the Spanish Empire in 1602. Number four was Serra and Portola and the Spanish Empire flag in 1769 and number five, the flag of the Spanish Empire of 1785.

Thus there were four Spanish Empire flags. All different versions of the same thing.

THERE WERE TWO MEXican flags...Independence and the Mexican Empire in 1822 and the Mexican Republic flag of 1823.

And in 1579 Sir Francis Drake flew the flag of England when he sailed into a bay just north of San Francisco and remained there for 36 days for repairs.

Then there was the Russian-American Company flag in 1812. The company had been organized in 1799 with headquarters in Sitka, Alaska, to exploit the fur resources of Alaska. In June, 1812, the Russians founded Fort Ross in California.

A flag about which little seems to have been recorded is described as "Bouchard and the flag of Argentina in 1818". Two ships flying the revolutionary flag of Argentina, under the command of Bouchard, sailed into Spanish Monterey Bay in 1818 and sacked, looted and burned the town in the name of liberty.

These Argentina revolutionaries stayed a week in Monterey and then sailed south where they also pillaged and burned the mission of San Juan Capistrano.

ANOTHER FLAG LISTED is "the Californians in 1836".

Monterey was captured by 100 men from the Mexican government and California was established as "a free and sovereign state."

However it is uncertain whether the "lone star" flag was ever flown in public.

John Fremont, as an engineer with the U.S. Army, wintered in California in 1846 when on a "scientific" expedition. Over their fort that was constructed on Gavilan Peak, the Corps of Engineers flag was flown.

CITIZEN PARTICIPATION

Goals group to list priorities Thursday

Is the loop street, which is expected to cost $2 million plus, the most pressing capital improvement project for the city?

Should the city employ a recreation coordinator at $15,000 per year and budget $50-$75,000 annually for a recreation program?

Should a city policy be established supporting a Public Works plan for minimizing traffic in residential streets?

Those are just some of the issues that members of the steering committee of the Citizens Advisory Goals Committee will attempt to rank by priority at a meeting tomorrow (Thursday, May 24) at 7:30 p.m. in the city hall.

The priorities that will be set culminate more than three months of research and study in which more than 70 local citizens participated.

A preliminary list of priority recommendations, based on the recommendations of the various sub-committees, will be formulated from a mail-in ballot that was distributed to all 22 members of the steering committee.

Committee members were asked to rank on their ballots in priority the various items that had been submitted. In the non-cost (or policy) matters, there were 29 proposals to be listed from 1 to 29, ranging from minimizing traffic in residential areas to a suggested study for the purchase of the Campbell Water Co. and a committee to study the upgrading of the appearance of existing businesses.

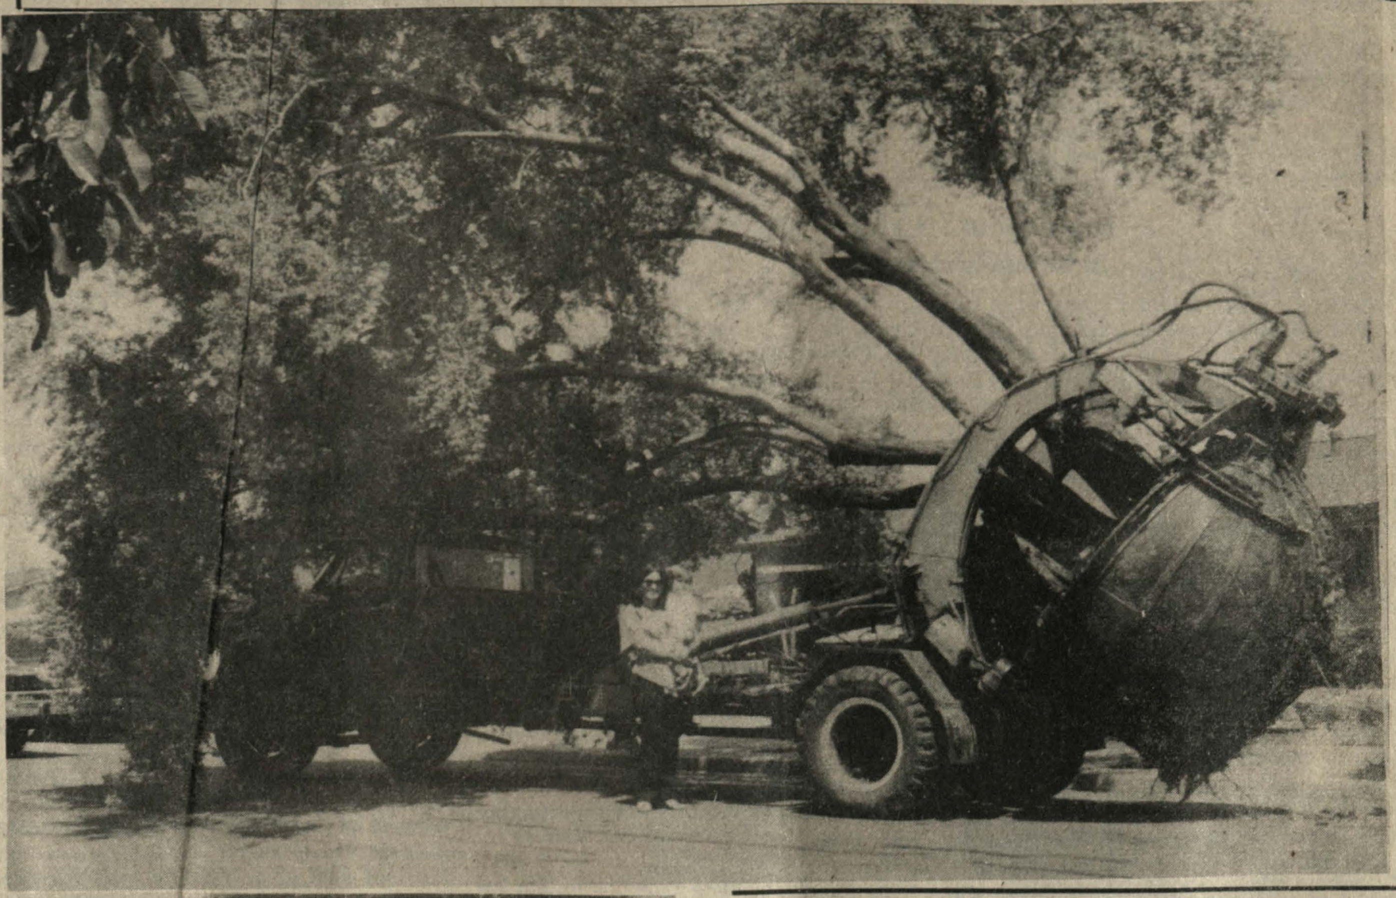
In addition to the loop street system, other capital improvement projects recommended (to be rated 1 to 8), include landscaping and developing Los Gatos Creek ($25,000); acquiring additional land for Rincon Park ($150,000-$200,000); development of bike trails and a minor street program.

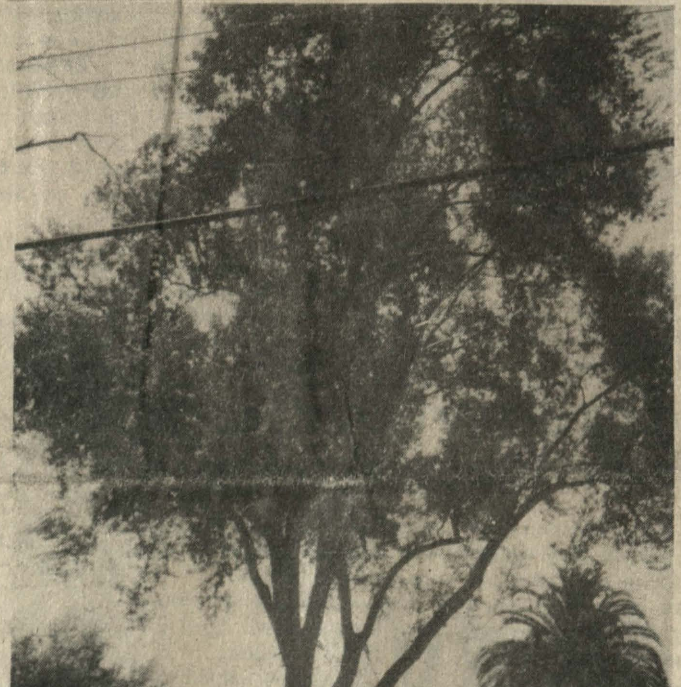
Other cost items (to be rated 1 to 9), in addition to the recreation program director recommend a noise and seismic study ($15,000); intergovernmental study ($10,000); financial support for West Valley Progressive Seniors.

(By a majority vote, the committee can amend the ballot listings.)

After the steering committee establishes the priorities, a final report will be drafted and submitted to the City Council.

Although only members of the steering committee will act on the priorities Thursday, all members of the goals committee, as well as interested citizens, are invited to attend.





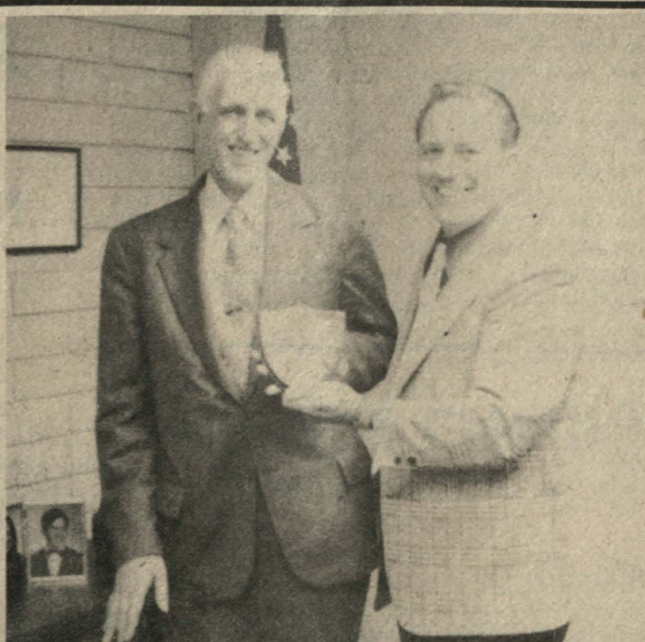
ON ITS WAY---A 50-year-old olive tree was donated last week to the City of Campbell by Police Officer and Mrs. Ron Pennington. The other photo shows the tree in place near the entrance to the park.)

CITY SERVICE

Citizens of Campbell who are interested in participating in the highly important field of planning are urged to apply for the positiosn that will be open on the Planning Commission.

City Clerk Dorothy Trevethan, from whom applications can be obtained at the city hall, reported this week that only five people had applied so far for the two vacancies caused by the resignations of Carl Larson and Milt Howe.

The City Council will make the appointments to the Commission from the applicants who have filed and been interviewed by the Council.



HONORED BY POLICE--Ed Fabbri (left), president of the Campbell Chamber of Commerce and manager of the two Bank of America branches in town, was named citizen-of-the-year by the Campbell Police Department last Wednesday. The announcement was made at the seventh annual community recognition dinner. Len Edholm, CofC manager, accepted the award for Fabbri who was absent on a business trip. Chief Don Burr (above) made the personal presentation this week.

Other awards went to Robert Fullweider as officer-of-the-year and Chuck Ellner as reserve officer-of-the-year. Ellner, a captain in the reserves, won the honor in 1970 also.

FBI Special Agent William Kidwell was the keynote speaker at the annual dinner which was started in 1967 by former Chief John D. Morgan as a formal acknowledgment of consistent support of the police effort in the community.

SERVICE STATION OPERATORS SAY

Gasoline shortage problem to get worse here

by Pat Safford

Campbell residents can expect the problem of gasoline shortages to grow worse in the coming weeks, according to many local service station owners.

Impact from the gasoline supply problems, which first appeared on the West Coast in the Los Angeles area last month, have reached this area and are expected to grow much worse.

Some stations have already closed, many have cut back hours drastically, some are rationing the total amount of gasoline sold per customer, while a few say they haven't had any problems and are, in fact, selling more gasoline.

HURTS BUSINESS

"It's just about put me out of business," said Chuck Gates, owner of Gates Arco, 2015 Winchester Blvd.

"The problem is acute," he continued, explaining that he had been cut back to about half his normal supply. The company has allocated his station 84% of last year's quota. However, Gates points out that he did not own the station last May, and had increased gas sales four-fold since taking over the station.

So far he's laid off seven young college students, he said. "I make it a practice to hire college students who need to earn money and who work hard to get good grades. I feel they'll do the same for me. So far its worked out just that way."

Gates has cut back his 24-hour service to 7 a.m. to 7 p.m.

IMPACT IN JUNE

"For many dealers," said Bill Faulk, owner of Bill's Union '76 station, 3145 So. Bascom Ave., "the full impact of the shortage won't hit until sometime in June." Most dealers order heavily every other month, he said, and May orders are usually high.

Faulk, cut back to 85% of his January volume, began closing three to four hours early last week. "So far," he said, "I've laid off one full-time employee."

As to the reasons for the current crisis in the gasoline industry, "I say its political," Faulk said. "They (the oil companies) want the pipeline. There's no doubt though that there is a shortage."

SALES INCREASED

Andy's Sunnyoaks Shell station, Winchester at Sunnyoaks, hasn't had any problem with shortages. According to owner Andy Anderson, his sales have increased during recent weeks. He feels that Shell stations will be the last to feel any effects from gasoline rationing.

Fred Bremer of Bremer's Gulf, 368 E. Campbell Ave., said he's not troubled with any shortages. "I don't know about any shortages," he said, "I don't have any."

Also reporting no problem was A-1 Service Center at 1603 S. Bascom Ave.

CHEAP GAS GOES

The Petrol Stops, located at 371 E. Hamilton Ave. and 880 S. San Tomas Aquino Rd. have been closed for the past two weeks. According to reports, their closing wasn't a result of gasoline shortage but due to other reasons. Both expect to be open by this weekend. One of several cut-rate gas outlets in this area, prices have climbed in recent weeks by 20 to 25%. "Cheap gas is gone," said one station owner.

The Terrible Herbst station at 13[illegible]1 Camden Ave. is still

Al Blaine gets top '72 award

Allan C. Blaine, first vice-president of the Campbell Chamber of Commerce and former president of the JayCees, was named "outstanding young man of 1972" by the Campbell JayCees at the annual distinguished service banquet at Zorba's last Friday night.

Secretary of State Edmund G. (Jerry) Brown was the keynote speaker at the affair and emphasized in his speech that "a handful of criminals" responsible for the Watergate scandal, had undermined public confidence in government and urged all Americans to join together to repair the damage to the country and to build it into a strong, open and honest government.

Blaine is a Campbell native son and after graduating from Campbell High took his degree in pharmacy at the University of California. He has operated Aero Pharmacy in Campbell for a number of years and has long been active in community and school affairs.

With his wife, Beverly, and their four boys, he resides in Los Gatos. Blaine is now 36 but qualified for the "DSA" award when he was still 35, the maximum age for a recipient.

The award was presented by Len Edholm, last year's winner, who also introduced the other candidates who had been nominated for the honor.

Mike Kennedy, president of the JayCees, welcomed the members and guests, and Fred LaCosse of Channel 11 was the master-of-ceremonies.

NELSON BROTHERS

Gas distributor-trucker cites need for priorities

A long-time Campbell wholesale gasoline distributor and trucking firm, seriously affected by the recent gasoline cutbacks, called for guidelines to be established on the distribution of gas.

Mervyn Nelson, of Nelson Bros. Trucking Co., located in Campbell since 1931, said that either government or industry should meet and set up priorities so that essential operations will not be slowed or halted by the fuel supply problems.

NO MORE GAS

Nelson, who sells gasoline wholesale to commercial users in addition to operating a trucking business, said that he received a notice from Atlantic Richfield on May 14 stating that his supply of gasoline would be cut back to 85% of his 1972 unit sales.

On Thursday, May 17, Nelson said he was informed he had already used his May quota and would not receive any more gasoline until June 1.

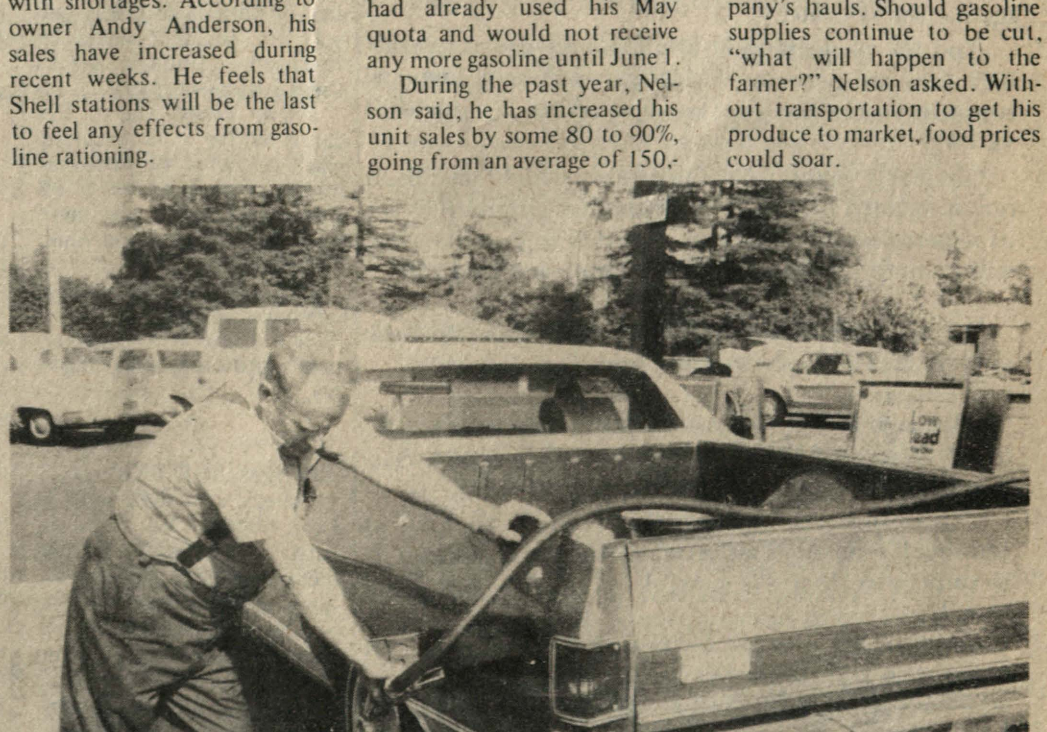
During the past year, Nelson said, he has increased his unit sales by some 80 to 90%, going from an average of 150,000 units per month to some 235,000 gallons during April.

REASONING

Reasons for the cutbacks are not clear to Nelson. "There could be a shortage," he said. "It's been years since a refinery was built." Other possible reasons for the current oil company moves, he posed, could also be the conflict over off-shore drilling, the Alaskan pipeline and the recent reduction in the oil depletion allowance. (The 1969 Tax Reform Act cut back the depletion allowance for gasoline from 27% to 22%.)

OTHER PROBLEMS

Nelson feels the problems of the gasoline shortage will not be limited to transportation alone. "I handle about 95% highly perishable products," the local business owner said of his trucking concern. Fruits and vegetables make up the bulk of his company's hauls. Should gasoline supplies continue to be cut, "what will happen to the farmer?" Nelson asked. Without transportation to get his produce to market, food prices could soar.



GROWING PROBLEM--Some Campbell service stations have begun to feel the impact of gasoline rationing. While some station owners report no problems at all, many have or are planning to cut back hours and personnel.

Editorial

Examine tax rate

Currently the City of Campbell is probably in the healthiest position, fiscally speaking, in its 21-year history.

Yet many interested citizens have indicated concern about the "welfare" of the city today, despite its excellent financial situation.

That probably is because the city is in a better position to "do something" today than ever before.

And that becomes complicated.

Various segments of the community have generated ideas and programs as to how the city's reserves should be spent.

Of course, the different groups have different ideas as to priorities.

When the city was struggling financially, these groups in the community kept their ideas to themselves.

But now it is a different story.

Not for a moment do we want you to get the idea that we prefer a "bare bones" existence to an affluent one.

But we also maintain that the city administration must use just as much discretion and caution in the spending of taxpayers' money when the bank balance is fat as in the case when pickings are slim.

The establishment of guidelines and objectives for the city is highly important.

We concede when there is money in the bank, so to speak, the guidelines are more meaningful than when the situation is reversed.

On the other hand, the goals of the city should basically be the same, no matter what the fiscal position.

They just become more realistic at certain times.

It is fortunate that the Citizens Advisory Goals Committee came into being this year.

The input of the 76 citizens, who comprised the overall committee, was important as the many areas of concern were explored, researched and studied with the objective in mind of establishing guidelines for the city.

At the present time, the steering committee is reviewing the recommendations of the various subcommittees prior to drafting the final report to the City Council.

Not only is the City of Campbell in a healthy fiscal state, but the sort of frosting on the cake is the extra dough, the windfall, so to speak, that rests in the bank drawing interest. We refer to the federal revenue-sharing funds which should reach $400,00 by the end of the next fiscal year.

The report to the City Council from the goals committee should have a tremendous impact because of the optimistic financial picture of the city.

It will not, of course, be difficult to spend the funds in the city treasury.

For example, the parks and recreation phase of this city could use all the available finances plus much more.

We realize that, if the city is to move ahead in any area, it will cost money.

We sincerely believe that the City of Campbell must move ahead and we are pleased that this city has the wherewithal to make considerable headway.

We maintain, however, that definite guidelines must be established and they must be realistic ones that take into consideration what the taxpayers are willing to pay over the long haul.

The City Council must weigh the cost of projects against the tax rate.

And the projects must be examined also as to whether they are permanent ones that will need financial support year after year as opposed to the one-shot variety.

Obviously many of the programs which have been recommended by the citizen goals sub-committees are of a permanent nature and, if authorized by the city, will commit a portion of the tax rate each year.

We are well aware that for a community to have improvements there must be a price tag attached.

Although it may be popular politically to advocate the lowering of taxes while sponsoring costly civic improvements, we know it is not possible to do so.

Our position is, however, that because the City of Campbell is in such an excellent financial position, it is imperative that the current tax rate be examined closely.

Conceivably it might be possible to move ahead in some areas and still reduce the tax rate.

Then on June 14, 1846, Fremont and his gang seized Sonoma and proclaimed California as a republic. This was called the Bear Flag Revolt because of the hastily-designed bear flag.

The bear flag was replaced in July, 1846 by the stars and stripes when it was learned that Mexico and America were at war.

We really didn't intend to offer you this California history lesson when we started out.

We were carried away by this flag review.

IN PASSING WE NOTE that in June of 1976, 25,000 people from all 50 states and 13 foreign countries will gather in Anaheim, California to dosy do and swing their partners at the 25th National Square Dance Convention.

This demonstration of a traditionally American folk activity has earned the official recognition of the American Revolution Bicentennial Commission as part of its National Bicentennial Program.

We thought that was a nice touch. The square dance is a purely American institution and it should be a part of the bicentennial celebration.

In some circles, it will probably be considered corny and old-fashioned to celebrate the 200th anniversary of this nation.

There will be many who probably will ignore the bicentennial and instead emphasize the weaknesses and the faults of our country.

But, hopefully, there will still be millions of squares around like us who will officially, proudly and patriotically pay our respects to our nation on its 200th birthday.

As a square of the first magnitude, maybe that's why we thought that SQUARE dance convention was a nice gesture as a bicentennial feature.

WHILE DIGGING through our notes, we ran across an item that reported a restaurant chain had purchased some old railroad cars and cabooses which will be turned into eating places in southern California.

The restaurants are supposedly authentic, luxurious railroad dining cars mounted on railroad tracks.

The cars are to be architecturally restored and attached to a newly constructed depot. A bright red caboose with a pot-bellied stove will be utilized as the lounge area.

The only reason we can think of for keeping that item is that it illustrates how incongruous things can be.

Passenger travel on trains, despite efforts to revive the business, has dwindled from its heyday to a miniscule amount.

Yet a restaurant firm apparently is proving highly successful with its railroad dining car motif.

FENDER BENDERS IN line of duty is probably one way the incident could be described, although details seem to be rather hazy.

As we understand it, the dents on the cars occurred when several of the patrol vehicles arrived in answer to an emergency call at the same place and at the same time, more or less.

The cars were NOT Campbell police vehicles.

It was sort of a "togetherness" situation, one might say.

WHEN SHE COULDN'T get service at a store recently, Carol Casteel, The Press circulation manager, became quite provoked because she saw a clerk at the other end of the check-out stand apparently doing nothing but chit-chatting very intimately with a male customer whose back was to Carol.

But Carol just could not get the clerk's attention.

A few minutes later when the "customer" left and the clerk began screaming, Carol understood what it was all about.

A hold-up had been in progress.

What Carol thought was a personal discussion going on between a clerk and a customer was something quite different.

Of course, the discussion still might have been personal.

With the gun for emphasis.

FOR A NUMBER OF basic reasons, we try to keep our handwriting usage at a minimum.

We limit our handwriting to our signature, as a rule, or an occasional address on an envelope. We use a typewriter in self-defense.

When we are in a hurry, our scrawls get pretty bad.

And it seems we are always in a hurry when we scrawl.

We now may not even address envelopes by hand any more.

An envelope was returned to us this last week by the postal service with the notation "no such address"...

The postal service was absolutely wrong, of course.

The address we had written WAS correct.

The trouble was apparently no one in the postal service could read it.

But we really can't blame the postal people.

We passed it around the office. No one could read it either.

So we rewrote the address. On a typewriter.

GRANT AWARDED — The W.K. Kellogg Foundation has named West Valley College as one of 30 institutional recipients of a three-year support grant for a project involving innovative approaches to the delivery of in-service education and training for hospital personnel. West Valley's model was developed in cooperation with eight hospitals in Santa Clara Valley. Here Boyd Sanderson, associate administrator of Santa Clara Valley Medical Center; Barbara Andrews, personnel officer at Good Samaritan; Phil DeMarco, occupational education dean at West Valley College; and Jan Van Eaton, director of in-service education at San Jose Hospital, discuss how the grant will be implemented. A total of $34,092 will be received by the college over a three year period.

HIGHER GAS PRICES

While not feeling the pinch of a real gas shortage this month, James Chow, owner of the Texaco station at 1300 Camden Ave., feels his station will be seriously affected in June. He is being held to last year's volume of gas sales. "Last May this station had a special promotion," Chow said, "and did a large volume of business."

Chow feels that the higher gas prices forecast will be the result of raising prices on the local level, rather than a great increase in bulk gasoline and oil prices. While there will be some increase in wholesale gas prices, Chow states, he expects rates to go up by a total of some three to four cents a gallon. Cost to the consumer, however, he says, can easily double.

"If the situation continues," he explained, "we HAVE to go up to compensate." Some of his operating expenses have doubled in the past year, Chow states, and if he and other owners are to stay in business they'll have to increase prices.

Chow feels the reason for the present problem is a lack of refineries.

Gasoline prices have already taken an upward swing by some two cents per gallon at several stations. From all indications, it will continue in that direction.

FOR THE DOGS

When Gordon Hughes returned to his 440 N. Esther home last Monday he discovered he had been burglarized.

Total value of the missing articles was set at close to $2,000, on reports, including a color TV, stereo equipment, clothing and two Doberman Pinscher pups.

COUNCIL MEETS

Campbell's City Council met last night (Tuesday) after press time and was expected to award the contract for the first phase of Rincon Park and also approve the specifications and call for bids for the Hamilton Avenue widening project from Highway 17 to Winchester.

Bill Hedley, architect, was also scheduled to present the final plans for the library.

BOARD TO MEET

Trustees of the Campbell Union (elementary) School District meet this Thursday, May 24, in the administration building at 7 p.m.

One of the items on the agenda will be the scheduling of one meeting each month, instead of two, for the next three months.

BUSINESS LOSS

Two Campbell businesses lost cash totalling over $1,500 last week when the cash disappeared during business hours.

Ernie's Liquors, 655 W. Hamilton Ave., reported $961 in currency stolen from a back room in the retail store, while the Hobby Center, 2517 Winchester Blvd. reported a bank bag containing $500 gone.

College budget session set

Thursday evening West Valley College's governing board set a special meeting for May 31 at 7:30 p.m. to discuss the budget and salary proposals.

The faculty's request includes an 8.1 per cent "salary equalization adjustment," to cover the cost of living for the past two years, a "salary equalization adjustment" of $1 per hour for hourly faculty members, adoption of an orthodontia rider to the current dental plan, adoption of a multiphasic rider to the current Blue Cross medical plan, adoption of a fringe benefit continuance plan for retiring employees, and district maintenance of the fringe benefit package for an employee on the first year of a maternity leave.

Representatives of the faculty will be present at the May 31 meeting to verbally present the package. It is also expected that the classified staff will present its proposal at the same meeting.

In other action Thursday evening the board:

Asked the superintendent to bring back a recommendation concerning classified representation on the policy review committees.

Building department issues 94 single-family permits

Despite the issuance of 94 building permits for single-family residents in April for more than $2 million valuation, the total $-value for building permits issued within the city limits for the first four months of 1973 is down $305,644 from the previous year, according to Wally Byron, building official.

However, building permits this April topped April of 1972 by $1.2 million.

Two firms accounted for all the single-family permits, Dura Style Homes, Inc. and Avco Commercial Development. There were 26 permits for Dura Style Homes on Darryl Drive and 68 issued to Avco on West Latimer.

The valuations ranged from a low of $15,208 to a high of $31,446.

There were three permits for commercial buildings totalling $245,012 and one industrial for $217,339. Taking out commercial building permits were Harvey Green at 2605 Winchester for $50,000; Bill Jones at 2110 S. Winchester, $52,100, and Thomas MacIvor, at 1930 S. Bascom for an office building at $142,912.

The industrial building permit was taken out by Martin & Martin at 1400 Dell Ave. for $217,339.

Another major building permit was issued for construction at the Eastfield Children's Center on Llewellyn Avenue, for $88,496.

Apparently the warm weather has stimulated the need for swimming pools, for in April there were 10 permits for pools issued for $48,500. In April of 1972, only four permits for $14,000 were issued.

Chicanos, teachers to confer

As an outgrowth of recent tensions at Rolling Hills School, a meeting will be held with some 13 staff members of the school and representatives of Los Padres group Wednesday in the home of Margaret Magdaleno, president of the Mexican-American organization.

"We would anticipate this will be the first meeting of many," said Robert Turk, Rolling Hills principal, "in order to develop a long range program for the betterment of all students."

The Campbell Union (elementary) School District school has been the site of some student and parent unrest in recent weeks over the cancellation of a planned cultural event.

Attending the joint meeting by invitation of the group will be Turk, the vice-principal, two student counselors, a school psychologist, and eight Rolling Hills teachers.

Planners move to get areas in line with general plan

After a lengthy hearing, attended by a number of interested residents of the areas involved, the Planning Commission on Monday night recommended 25 zone changes of "Study Area II" (San Tomas sector). It was the second of six study areas that are to be considered.

The recommendations now go to the City Council for approval. The zone changes are necessary because state legislation now requires that the zoning ordinance must be consistent with the general plan.

Of the 25 zone changes before the Commission, 12 of them, because of their present use (schools, churches, etc.), were changed in short order to "public facility" zoning.

But each of the other 13 before the Commission was taken up separately and, in almost every instance, owners of the areas involved expressed their opinions.

Time and again, the commissioners took turns emphasizing that during the public hearings that had been held on the general plan, citizens had expressed their desires to lower the density.

Only in one instance, however, did the Commission change the recommendation of the staff. An area in the Sunnyoaks sector was left at R-1 instead of moving to R-2-S.

In other actions prior to the zone change hearings, the Planning Commission by a 6-1 vote (Commissioner Fred Long dissenting) rejected the application of Ira Kirkorian for a zone change on property at 1545 and 1591 Bucknall Rd.

Kirkorian was requesting the property now zoned R-3-S be changed to P-D to allow a 71-unit apartment complex on the parcels. Under R-3-S zoning, only 63 units would be allowed.

Kirkorian explained that the plans for the 71-unit project had originally been approved but the time had expired. In the meantime the city had lowered the density standards.

The commissioners commended Kirkorian for his developments over the years in Campbell but they maintained that changing the zoning so as to get eight more units was not the purpose of the P-D (planned development) zoning.

In other actions, the Commission approved signs for the new Bell Savings at Campbell Avenue and San Tomas Road. However, the savings and loan firm had requested that it take over the present "Freddie's Liquor" signs at that location and just change the wording. Bell Savings is taking over part of the liquor store. The Commission followed the staff's recommendation, and specified that it was a new sign and it must be lowered and couldn't rotate.

Approvals were given the application of R. Picone and R. Ferrari for an industrial building at 529 McGlincey Lane; for Jack Craig for a warehouse at 1085 Florence Way; for John Font for conversion of an existing residential building into a nursery school for speech handicapped children.

The application of Jack Knighton for a senior citizens apartment complex between White Oaks and Bascom was continued until the next meeting for more information.

Eastfield Children's Center was granted an extension of time for the use of a portable building and the application of Henry Stoner for a zone change from R-1 to R-M at 235 N. Third St. was approved. Myron Alexander, a local real estate agent and a member of the Planning Commission, stepped down from the Commission to represent the applicant.

Ms.: What's that?
Paul: This is the WOMmmmm.
Ms.: I don't get it.
Paul: It's kind of like the Twilight Zone, but it's our column.
Ms.: I still don't get it.

ADMIRABLE, BUT....

The Admirable Crichton by J. M. Barrie was this year's Senior Put On.

With "Master" Gregory Mortenson taking the lead as Crichton, the rest of the main parts were double cast.

Taking each of the characters by themselves, it was a good play to the female half of this column. The characters were well developed, with the part of the Earl of Loam outstanding.

However, putting them all together for two and one-half hours totaled a complete zilch for senior plays to Mr. P. N. Macierz.

Sybil: How's the W.O.M. crew?
Paul: Being phased out.
Ms.: Is WOM some sort of secret government organization?
Sybil: In a way it's in the same league with the Washington Post.

THIS STORY IS TO REPLACE THE ONE WE DIDN'T GET ANY INFORMATION ABOUT

This is what is generally known as a blankity-blank story. But instead we'd like to do something out of the ordinary--out of the ordinary for US, that is.

The following is something to think about, and maybe follow.

"Keep the corners of your mouth turned up. Speak in a persuasive tone. Listen, be teachable. Laugh at good stories and learn to tell them....for as long as you are green, brother, you can grow." (Godspell motto.)

Ms.: WOMmmm. I don't get it.
Maury: Hi Ronnie! How's the WOM?
Ms.: Why is everybody asking me that?! What's WOM?!!
Maury: A hard-core literary revolutionary group.

Plan today for a fire-safe tomorrow

(The following is the first of a series of articles on fire safety and fire prevention by the Campbell Fire Department.)

Spring freshness gives everybody a new lease on life. And that lease on life, for you and your family, will be more certain if you have planned and practiced a family fire drill.

"This is one of the most important Spring Clean-Up actions you can take -- cleaning up any questions about what to do if fire should strike your home," says Fire Chief Gene Borden. "National Fire Protection Association records indicate that the majority of lives taken by home fires might have been saved if people had planned and rehearsed ways to escape."

"So plan and practice today -- for a safer tomorrow."

Here are pointers to help you plan:

1. Figure out at least two routes to the outside from every room in the house, especially bedrooms. Allow for blocking of stairways or halls by fire.

2. Particularly for nighttime fires, remember that closed bedroom doors will hold back flame and smoke, allow extra time for escape or rescue.

3. For upper floor escape, as ways down to safety use any available porch and garage roofs, trees and poles reachable from a window. You may need to install a folding escape ladder. Be sure exit windows work easily, and that they are low and large enough to get through.

4. Pick an outside assembly point where the family will meet for a "roll-call," and be sure everyone knows the rule "once out - stay out."

5. Know how to call the fire department, by your phone or neighbor's phone, and do this as quickly as the house is clear of people.

6. Plan whatever help is needed for infants and the infirm.

Once your plans are made, it is important for all the family -- including the children -- to rehearse them carefully and regularly.

You can vastly improve your escape arrangements for the nighttime sleeping hours by installing home fire warning equipment. Because it wakens you in the very early stages of the fire, it allows precious extra time for escape. For complete protection, install equipment throughout your house that detects both the heat and smoke of fires.

For minimum protection, install smoke detectors on hall or stair ceilings near the bedroom area. Be sure the equipment carries the reliability seal of a nationally-recognized testing laboratory, and is installed according to National Fire Protection Association (NFPA) requirements.

Passing the Buc

By Lynne Hermle

Members of Campbell's CSF/Honor Society were rewarded for their zealous efforts at good grades (no, cheating does not count!) by hitting the streets of San Francisco in the annual day-long excursion. Buses left at about 9 a.m.--and returned 12 hours later. Students choose from the movies Camelot, Sleuth and Godspell, the play Godspell, or a ferryboat ride in the bay city.

Recognition should be given to Miss Orozco, Campbell's diminutive Spanish teacher and club advisor for many hours of hard work in planning the trip. However, things did not go as perfectly as planned.

First of all it seemed that there was a limited number of tickets to the play, and almost all but the seniors who had chosen it were left with their second choice. I chose to see the movie form of Godspell, as my second pick, but was then informed that the movie was also out of the running, due to re-scheduling by the theater. I (and many others) remained cool, calm, and undaunted, and decided to watch Camelot.

Unfortunately for those who had chosen the ferry to Sauselito, the boat had burned down the day before and, ah, well, kids, you'll have to pick again. Most people did remain happy until we were told that those cute little cable cars that you were soooo excited about riding would not be operating that day. Oh, well, it was a beautiful (if slightly gusty) day, and just think, you could have been sitting in your algebra class!

Were it not for the fact that I had walked about 24 blocks (naturally uphill, most of them), had gotten lost quite a few times with bad results, had been jostled, tripped, ogled, found my favorite store replaced by a maze of construction, had run-ins with several unsavory characters, well, if it were not for all those things I really don't think I would have become hysterical when I found after arriving at the movie that it had been rescheduled and we had missed the first twenty minutes or so. At least, I wouldn't have been so loudly hysterical.

However, it did make good telling to the students who had attended their classes for that day--all five of them.

HAPPENINGS

Thursday, May 24: Girls Sports with Prospect here at 2:30.

Saturday, May 26: Girls Sports again, this time with Los Gatos there at 8:30.

Monday, May 28: MAKE MERRY! School Holiday.

Wednesday, May 30: Spirit Commission's Banquet in the cafeteria at 7 (sob). This is the night of nights for all Campbell Rah-rahs as the new come in, the old go out and many a tear is shed.

And a winner at last in the sports scene from Campbell--the mighty Varsity Baseball Team ended their district showing in the top spot. The F/S team was not too far behind with third in their division--hope at last. Campbell now will advance to the Regional III Championship Tournament (or something like that) and as calmly stated by one of the top nine--"We have just as good a chance of winning as anyone else does."

And speaking of winners--the Campbell High Lettergirls returned from the spirit competition at Cal State Berkeley with the FIRST PLACE trophy. Rah! Double Rah, if I do say so myself.

CALIFORNIA REPUBLIC

What is the California Funeral Itemization Law?

In mid-1972 the State of California enacted a new funeral pricing law to protect you and your family

Simply stated, the new California law provides:

- ■ All services must be shown at their selling price
- ■ All caskets must be sold separately from services
- ■ All prices must be plainly shown and available
- ■ All services not needed or desired by the family must be deleted or not charged for

WE WERE 2 YEARS AHEAD OF THE STATE

This legislation was upsetting to many funeral directors. But not at Darling & Fischer. We had instituted itemization way back in 1970 and have used it ever since.

WHY WE CHOSE ITEMIZATION

Why did we do it? For the very same reasons that the legislature enacted the law.

Vast social and economic changes had altered the wishes of many people in what they felt suitable for a funeral service. Obviously, the deep-rooted unit-price method of selling began to meet resistance. Not everyone should pay a lump-sum for facilities, personnel, and equipment when some of these items are not needed or desired.

The so-called "unit-price" was always for a cortege service—usually two limousines, a hearse, floral car, and a motorcycle escort—from the funeral home or church to the cemetery.

Naturally, when the family planned a cremation or shipment to a home town for burial, they didn't require all this equipment or service. The demand for cortege funerals is considerably less now. And when a cortege is not desired, it almost always eliminates the use of costly limousines.

CHANGING WITH THE TIMES

It became obvious to our firm in 1970—as it did the State in 1972—that:

- ■ The standard funeral was not desired by all families.
- ■ The idea of a "chapel-conclusion"—with no cortege—was the choice of more and more families
- ■ Services at graveside only was the choice of others
- ■ With increasing population movement, a greater number of funerals called for shipment to another part of the country
- ■ The change in social values led some to new thinking about what was or was not needed for a funeral service

Since so many families no longer wanted or needed full service, we changed from unit-price to itemization back in 1970 to meet their needs more fully.

HOW ITEMIZATION SAVES THE FAMILY MONEY

A family can save considerably by choosing (1) a chapel-concluded service with no cortege, or (2) a graveside-only service, or (3) a strictly private, family-only service, or (4) a memorial-type service, or (5) by eliminating any of several items they may decide are unnecessary. Through such choices, a family can save anywhere from $15 to $325 at Darling & Fischer.

YOU CHOOSE THE CASKET PRICE AT DARLING & FISCHER

Under our pricing policy—which is now State law—caskets must be sold separately. We consider them a special type of furniture, and offer a wide price selection. A price card is on each casket.

■ 24 caskets are from $89.00 to $4875.00.

ITEMIZATION GIVES YOU FREEDOM OF CHOICE

We believe completely in itemization. It lessens the effects of inflation. It can reduce the cost substantially. It is a scrupulously fair method of serving the needs and desires of today's families.

Darling & Fischer are experienced on the subject of itemization. Please call on us for any questions you may have about pricing—or on funeral and cemetery services in general.

West Valley College summer program gets early start

West Valley College's summer session schedule has been finalized and registration is set for Monday, June 18 at the Saratoga campus student center.

Before registering, however, prospective students must obtain a priority-to-register card from the admissions office at the Campbell campus. Students should bring their Social Security card with them in order to obtain the priority card.

Summer session is open this year to selected seniors in high school (those who have completed their junior year). Interested students must file an application and obtain a letter of approval from their high school, both of which must be filed at the admissions office.

West Valley will be offering a total of 160 class sections in the seven divisions. These include business, engineering, physical education, humanities-fine arts, language arts, science-math and social sciences.

Fees for summer school are $3, which includes a $2 campus center fee and a $1 health fee. These fees must be paid during registration and are not refundable.

Summer school will run from June 19 through July 27.

Further information on summer school may be obtained by calling admissions and records at 379-1733.

Help needed for summer student travel program

A local teacher has been named coordinator of an international student exchange program, and is seeking homes for summer students.

Mrs. Susan Lister, a Willow Glen resident and Branham High School Spanish teacher, announced that 90 students from Spain and France will need board and room for five weeks, preferably in the areas of Branham High School, Almaden, Cambrian and Willow Glen.

The students will study American culture and language in a special program sponsored by the Foreign Language Association of Santa Clara County (FLASCC).

The "home away from home" study program was organized by the Foreign Study League as a means of international understanding and friendship. The organization also sends American students to foreign countries where they study and stay with foreign families.

This year Spanish and French students will take their daily classroom instruction at Branham High School, 1570 Branham Lane, under bilingual teachers who also will act as guides to points of cultural interest throughout the Bay Area.

Spanish coordinator is Mrs. Lister. The French coordinator is Gil Mendez, Spanish and French teacher at San Jose High School. Two other FLASCC members will be heading groups under the Foreign Study League, Don Gilmore at Lynbrook High School, and John Burns at Saratoga High School.

Information can be obtained from Mrs. Lister at 266-5949 or from Gil Mendez at 243-5179.

ORCHID SOCIETY

Dr. George Kennedy, a noted professor of geophysics at the University of California at Los Angeles will be the speaker at the May meeting of the Peninsula Orchid Society.

The meeting will be held at the Menlo Park Recreation Center, Alma and Mielke Streets, at 8 p.m. on Friday, May 25.

SUMMER YWCA

Residents who are interested in summer activities for both children and adults should get their names on the San Jose YWCA Cambrian Center mailing list to receive the new summer brochure, it was announced today by Ruthadele Sarter, director.

Queries should go to the Cambrian Center, 4343 Leigh Ave., San Jose, 95124. Phone number is 269-7534.

All women and girls are eligible to become members of the San Jose YWCA, which is a United Fund Agency. Men and boys may participate in some activities as associates.

Volunteers offer help

Help with insurance forms, property tax forms and welfare forms is being offered by the West Valley Progressive Seniors at their 41 W. Rincon Ave., headquarters.

Other help available through the organization for senior citizens is housing and transportation.

For information or assistance call 378-5323.

WV College to gain in staff

West Valley College will employ 6.5 additional instructors during the next school year, following approval of the increased staffing by the governing board.

Supt. James P. Hardy reported that current staffing considerations have to be given to educational programs which reflect student needs and interests and not to overall growth trends or patterns.

He also noted that a number of programs at the college have previously relied heavily on hourly part-time instructors, which in some cases has meant a loss of continuity in the programs.

The board approved additional instructors for the business, engineering-technology, humanities-fine arts and science-math divisions.

RUMMAGE SALE

Native Daughters of the Golden West, Parlor 81, will hold a rummage sale on Saturday, May 26, from 9:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. at 342 E. Campbell Avenue.

Campbell woman to head Eastfield Center board

MRS. STEPHEN GOODMAN

The board of directors of Eastfield Children's Center, Campbell-located United Fund Agency for treatment of emotionally disturbed children, will be headed by Mrs. Stephen Goodman of Campbell, as the result of elections at the annual meeting.

Other officers are Mrs. Michael Bluhm, first vice-president; Alden Danner, second vice-president; Clark Bassett, treasurer; Sydney Resnick, assistant treasurer; Mrs. Elmer Tenneson, recording secretary; and Mrs. Bernard Berg, corresponding secretary.

New board members, elected for their first three-year term, are Anthony Armitage, Mrs. Donald Austin, Mrs. Dick A. Cantu, Cecil Coughran, and Fred Wool Jr.

Re-elected for three-year terms were Alden Danner, Mrs. Kenneth Iwagaki, Jack Kingsbury, and Mrs. Resnick

The annual meeting, at Zorba's Restaurant, featured Dr. Elliot Morrison, child psychiatrist who is consultant and medical director for Eastfield. In talking about the Eastfield child, he indicated the child who is acceptable for treatment is one who is emotionally disturbed, but is able to develop a trust in an adult. It takes that capability to "reach" the youngster. He indicated that ability is developed between birth and 18 months; if, during that time, the child develops a distrust of everyone, he or she generally cannot be helped by an agency such as Eastfield.

Dr. Morrison is also a consultant to Campbell, Cupertino and Oak Grove school districts.

"Fishing since I can remember..."

The attractive young Campbell matron enjoys reading, taking long walks, cooking and...fishing for steelhead trout along the San Lorenzo River.

Recently elected secretary of the Santa Clara Valley Fishing Association, Cynthia Howell has been fishing "since I can remember." Wife of Dennis Howell, and the mother of 2-year-old Dennis Jr., Cynthia is expecting the couple's second child any day.

The Howell family takes fishing trips throughout Northern California. Their catches include large mouth bass, catfish, steelhead and even blue gill from the local percolation ponds.

The new fishing association meets monthly at 7:30 p.m. at the Zion Lutheran Church, 3275 Payne Ave., San Jose, on the second Tuesday of each month. Eight lady anglers are presently on the membership roles of the new group. Director Joe Koch, of San Jose, says that by-laws of the group require each member have a valid California Fishing License.

"We're interested in hearing from local anglers who want to join an active group," he said.

For further information about the new group contact Koch at 378-2789.

Thirty Japanese students arrive in Campbell area

This summer, from July 25 to August 23, a group of 30 Japanese exchange students are arriving in this area. They are sponsored by INTERSTUDY, a non-profit educational institution concerned with increasing cultural understanding. Because the program is planned on a people-to-people basis, all students will be placed in private homes where they will be family guests.

Host families are now urgently needed who can participate in the program by housing a foreign student, and gain the experience of learning the Japanese culture without going to Japan.

The students are aged 16 to 23 and have studied English for at least two years. All students have their own pocket money and are insured against accidents. They will attend combined English Language/American Civilization courses four days a week and attend leisure activities two to three days a week, and study trips and excursions to which host families are often invited. Transportation to the course center will be arranged by INTERSTUDY.

The host families are responsible for providing room and board and a friendly atmosphere during the month when the students are here. They are the most important feature of the Japanese students' stay in America because they are their main contact with the United States.

As far as possible, students will be placed with families who share their interests, and wishes of families will be considered when placing students. Students must be placed six weeks prior to arrival so there will be an opportunity for exchange of letters in advance.

If you are able to share your home with a Japanese student this summer, or would like more information about the program, please contact the local representative, Mrs. Judith Peterson, 378-7536 (evenings).

Ladies plan dinner fete

A Hawaiian theme, to set the mood for the island convention planned for June, marks the dinner party of the Young Ladies Institute on Thursday, May 24.

Mrs. Irwin Pasternak, district deputy, will be honored guest at the 6:30 p.m. dinner at the Bold Knight Restaurant in Sunnyvale.

School holds public meeting

Wedgewood School, a small non-sectarian ungraded school, will hold an informational meeting Wednesday, May 30, at 7:30 p.m. in Room 1 at Camden High School, corner of Union and Camden Avenues.

The school, began this year by Don and Carol Hadlock, is open to children six through 16.

For further information call 377-8400.

Volunteers offer help

Individuals needing information on counseling, drugs, emergencies, medical and legal problems, housing, transportation and others are invited to call the Sunjammer, a Los Gatos switchboard staffed by volunteers.

Calls will be answered Monday through Saturday, from noon to midnight and on Sunday from 2 p.m. to midnight.

The number is 354-6149.

Parents meet at Camden

Camden High School will hold its Junior Parent Night in the school library on Wednesday, May 30, at 7:30 p.m.

Included on the program will be a film giving an overall view of college opportunities in California. "The college scene is changing," said Dorothy Pate, junior class counselor, "and in order to help direct students toward a rewarding experience in this area it is important that parents have the opportunity to seek up-to-date information."

OPEN HOUSE

Prospective volunteers at O'Connor Hospital in San Jose are invited to attend an open house, planned for Thursday, May 31, at the hospital. The 9:30 a.m. program will feature talks by hospital administrators as well as a tour of the hospital.

For further information contact the volunteer office at 298-3900.

Girl Scouts

by Erlene Cleveland

Seventh, eighth, and ninth grade Cadettes of Girl Scout Troop 567 went to Stanford for chapel service and tours, attended the West Valley College slide presentation on climbing El Capitan, and joined forces with a Boy Scout troop for sight seeing and ice skating at Eastridge.

They visited West Valley College's current art exhibit and had a tour of Old Town--Los Gatos (Art Challenge group), and helped at a recycling center (Environment Challenge.) The whole troop heard a guest speaker from Juvenile Probation on legal aspects and responsibilities of a minor, and a few girls shared their hobbies with residents of the Odd Fellows Home in Saratoga--part of a continuing service project with the elderly.

Trying to keep up with this active group (!) are leaders Vicky Candelaria, Kay McFall, Jackie Jollay, and Doris St. Germaine.

TROOP 827

For the past year Brownie Troop 827 has been corresponding with a Brownie pack in Elstead, Surrey, England (which is the hometown of their leader, Mrs. James Robb). They have exchanged holiday cards, pictures and most recently sent a friendship card to their pen pals. On Friendship Day, troop 827 made a poster replica of a Brownie Friendship pin and each girl signed it before sending it off to England.

The girls have learned, from their sister troop that there is no junior level of Girl Scouting in England and therefore Brownies can earn badges.

The girls have received letters and poems from the English troop.

Adult classes are scheduled

Natural history course is offered at summer college

Those interested in natural history education may brush up on their knowledge this summer in a class on "Plants and Animals of California" (Biology 14) being offered by West Valley College.

The class, to meet Monday through Thursday mornings from 8–11:45, should be of interest to recreation leaders and elementary teachers in particular.

Summer school will run at West Valley from June 19 through July 27, with registration set for June 18 at the Saratoga campus student center.

Those interested in enrolling in this three-unit credited course must obtain a priority-to register card immediately from the admissions and records office, 51 E. Campbell Ave., Campbell. Students need only bring their Social Security card with them in order to obtain the card.

Fees for summer school are $3, which includes a $2 campus center fee and a $1 health fee. These fees must be paid during registration and are not refundable.

Further information on this course and other summer session offerings may be obtained by calling admissions and records at 379-1733.

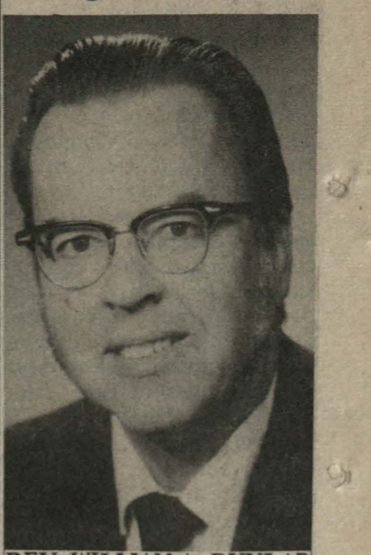
Noted minister delivers lecture to agnostics



REV. WILLIAM A. DUNLAP

"Something for the Agnostic" will be the topic of a lecture to be presented at the Immanuel United Presbyterian Church Thursday evening, May 24 at 7:15 by the Rev. William A. Dunlap, currently serving as special assistant to the Pastor at Immanuel.

These addresses are especially designed for the uncommitted person who may consider himself an honest "religious agnostic."

The minister is a world traveler, having visited 77 countries as well as all fifty states. He recently returned from his third trip to Australia where he spent a year as Teacher-Evangelist for the Presbyterian Church of Australia.

On several occasions Mr. Dunlap had the privilege of preaching for the late President Dwight D. Eisenhower, the first by special invitation of the White House.

A graduate of Princeton Theological Seminary, Mr. Dunlap attended U.C.L.A. and Wheaton College. He was elected a lifetime fellow of the Royal Geographical Society of London because of his extensive travels to remote parts of the world.

The lecture will be a blackboard discussion type lecture given in the Fireside Room at the church. The church is located at 3705 Payne Avenue at San Tomas Expressway.

CHAIRSIDE VIEW--Parents and friends lined the Westmont High School baseball fields last Saturday as the Quito Little League senior major and minor teams kick-off the 1973 season.

OPENING CEREMONIES---Quito Little League senior majors and minors held their opening ceremonies last Saturday at Westmont High School.

Quito Little League mothers held their annual softball game last Sunday at the Pollard Road field. Shown above, just before gametime, are, Meckenstock and Donna Campbell. Two year-old Shellie Campbell (shown with friend) came along to be with "Mommy."

A REAL CHANGE---Youthful baseball players were among spectators at the Quito Little League mothers softball game on Sunday. Campbell Mayor Dean Chamberlin threw out the first pitch, which was promptly lined to right center for a base hit. The game featured special modifications such as players refusing to vacate their base when called out and one team which fielded 14 players.

TROOP 346

June will mark the tenth year that Scout Troop 346 has been providing goals, values, personal development and fun for boys, through Scouting. Sponsored by the Christ United Presbyterian Church, 5331 Dent Ave., San Jose, Troop 346 is planning a celebration of its birthday on Sunday, June 3 from 2 to 4 p.m. at the church. They are expecting this party to be attended by both past and present members of the troop and their families.

Cliff Avery, Scoutmaster of 346 for the past four years, feels that Scouting is one of the best programs available for "Rounding a Guy Out" and helping a boy develop leadership and character. He has good reason for this feeling, for he's helped many boys find the right trail to manhood. Cliff is looking forward to seeing many of "his boys" at the celebration.

LUCKY 13

Tammy Reasor's 13th birthday brought back memories to her dad, Paul. Seems that Tammy recently celebrated her natal day on Friday the 13th, same as dad had done, many years earlier. Dad reminisced that he'd found a $10 bill on his birthdate--Tammy didn't find any money, but a slumber party and snack at a pizza parlor came off without a hitch--no luck being better than bad luck.

West Valley Colt League has new format this year

You may have to take a second look to recognize the newly restructured West Valley Colt League this year.

The eight-team league, as it was in previous years, has been totally dissolved--and the new format has required a revamping from the bottom up.

The most significant innovation is the league's new close association with its brother program--the Pony League. Boys, ages 13 and 14, now playing Pony baseball will graduate into a Colt program, ages 15-16, operated within its own organization.

In the past, the West Valley Colt league was independently operated with little or no contact with the Pony program, despite the fact that both programs are administered by the same national organization--Boys' Baseball Inc.

Santa Clara is one of the few areas which jointly operates a Pony and Colt program. Now the West Valley League follows suit.

Providing Colt teams in the new WV league will be such active Pony programs as Campbell-Moreland, Saratoga, Los Gatos, Cambrian Park, San Jose Westside and Branham-Leigh. The Colt team rosters will comprise boys who live within the respective Pony League boundaries--and each Pony League can enter as many teams as they wish.

It has been estimated that the league will accommodate at least 10 teams.

It has also been reported that the WV league will host the district all-star tournament, tentatively scheduled at Los Gatos High School field next July.

League signups and tryouts take place this month and the season will open June 2 and close in late July. Officers include: John Savage, chairman; Mike Ferla, vice-chairman; Larry Mullins, secretary; Rocky Genovese, treasurer; Bill McDonald, player agent, and Joe McGrody, player agent. For more information, contact Mr. Savage at 354-2700 or 867-9760.

Little League

by Doug Brooner

It was shutout day in the majors Sunday as all three games had the winners stopping the loosers with nary a run. In the first game; first place Campbell Moose went a step closer to the championship by defeating second place Breuners 4-0.

It was the two hit pitching of Tim Mooney and a bases loaded homer by Joe Cucchiara that spelled doom for Breuners.

Campbell Lumber had it a little easier with D's Automotive, 9-0 behind the two hit pitching of Curt Aure.

Fontanetti's had everything fall right and clobbered Robins 17-0 as Jeff Melrose spun a three hitter. Big Bob Hatzenpiller belted two homers, one a grand slam, the other a two run shot, to lead the majors with five homers.

In the Minors, American League John White Insurance continued its winning ways by overcoming Campbell Press in the top of the sixth 9-6. Kevin Brophy doubled home the winning run and John Douthit followed with a 2 run double to "ice it" for John White.

Round Table Pizza climbed into a second place tie by defeating Campbell Optimist 2-1. Richard Rose was the winning pitcher as well as hitting a home run to pace the hitters.

Sir Speedy ran all over Campbell Rotary 14-0 as Chris Flint pitched a four hitter. Jay Osberg powered two home runs and two doubles to lead the attack.

In the other game played, Campbell Kiwanis torpedoed Winchester Theaters 13-2.

Darling-Fischer Memorial Chapel handled the arrangements. Burial was in Los Gatos Memorial Park.

EDDIE RAMIREZ

A Requiem Mass was celebrated at St. Lucy's Church on Monday for Eddie Ramirez, 24, who died May 10 in a Santa Cruz hospital.

Ramirez had been hospitalized since an automobile accident several weeks ago.

A native of Phoenix, Arizona, he had been a resident of the county for the past 20 years and resided at 786 Jean Drive.

Surviving are his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Manuel M. Ramirez of Campbell, three brothers, Richard of Arizona; Benny of Santa Clara and Manuel Jr., of San Jose; and four sisters, Yolanda and Gloria, both of Campbell, Irene of San Jose and Lupe of Watsonville. Also surviving are 13 nieces and nephews.

Campbell firemen don new firefighting garb

Campbell Fire Chief Gene Borden recently announced that the Fire Department has been equipped with firefighting turnout coats and pants made of a new fire resistant nylon fabric called "Nomex." Produced by DuPont, Nomex is the result of two years of intensive evaluation of protective materials and the engineering problems involved in adapting this technology to various hazardous professions.

The new Nomex turnouts replace the heavier traditional cotton fire clothing, which in addition to having little or no fire resistance becomes waterlogged and extremely heavy when exposed to water.

COAT IGNITED

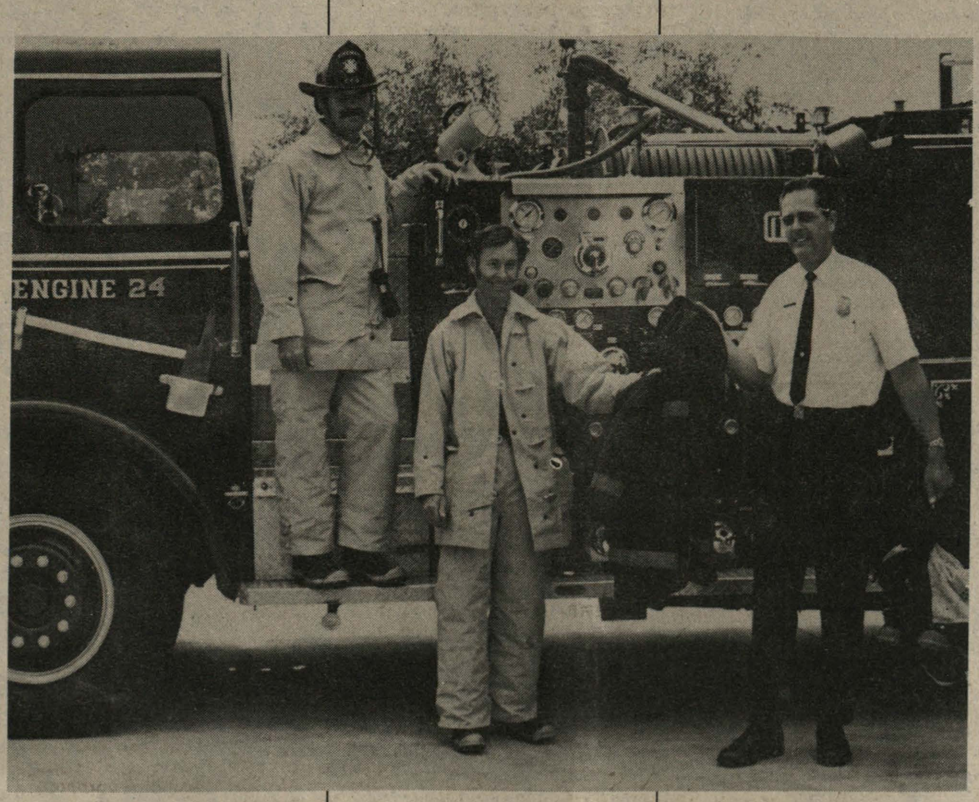
Campbell began researching the heat and fire resistance of protective clothing a little more than a year ago when the pocket of a fireman's coat was ignited during overhaul operations following a house fire. Fire officials began to wonder just how much protection was actually afforded by by the traditional cotton turnouts.

Tests at the University of Maryland Fire School have convinced most experts that the new Nomex turnouts are no doubt worth their relatively high cost (about twice the cost of the regular turnouts). One test called for an individual to stand eight feet from a roaring petroleum fire for as long as possible. Although the test subject stood wearing the Nomex coat for five minutes without experiencing any discomfort, he was forced to retreat when his boots began to melt out from under him and his leather hat rapidly began to shrink. Conventional turnout coats were ready to ignite in 20 seconds.

TWICE THE WEAR

According to Borden, the Nomex turnouts should last at least twice as long as their cotton predecessors, in addition to being lighter and more comfortable. The Fire Department selected yellow as the standard color for the new turnouts on the basis of the National Safety Council's assertion that yellow affords the wearer the greatest degree of visibility.

Fire Chief Borden pointed out that since Nomex is provided for race drivers and astronauts who may never experience a fire, it only seems logical to give this protection to firemen who risk their lives in fires on a daily basis.



ENGINE 24

ON WITH THE NEW---Campbell fireman Allen Lowden turns in his old uniform jacket to Battalion Chief Richard Bosted. Lowden and Fireman Fred Bailey are shown in the new "Nomex" turnout coats and pants purchased by the local fire department. The new fire resistant nylon clothing is said to afford much greater protection than the traditional cotton uniform.

CAMPBELL CLASS---It was a fun and learning day recently at the Los Gatos Museum for Mrs. Nancy Hobbs and her special education class from Forest Hill School. The youngsters had spent time gathering rocks and taping them to small cards. Mrs. Allaway, museum director, identified the specimens and wrote the names for each person. Students also learned that museums do not kill birds or animals for exhibits. They die naturally or by accident and in most cases are presented as gifts to be preserved by a freeze-dry process. Youngsters are, from left to right, Donald Roberts, Kathy Mortimer, Kirk Trapp, Sharon Stiles, Bonnie Whitlock, Charles Loft, Tim McNeal and John Epling.

POOL STOLEN

Among police reports last week was that of the theft of a swimming pool. Actually, the large plastic pool was uninflated and stored in the Kaeding garage at 950 Smith Ave.

Board gets reading test scores for primary grades

Test results indicate a steady growth in reading throughout the primary grades of the Campbell Union School District with the most dramatic result being a substantial decrease in the number of children scoring in the lowest quartile, trustees of the district learned at a special meeting last Thursday.

The special meeting was held to hear the results of the state required testing program and Vern Dahl, director of educational services for Westinghouse Learning Company which processes the scores for the Campbell district, assisted in the report.

The special report included information on the required tests in reading in grades 1-3 and grade 6 achievement tests in math, reading, spelling and language. A sixth grade intelligence test was also mandated and the results reported.

According to John Blackwell, district reading specialist, a positive trend was demonstrated by the current scores that are being reported to Sacramento.

Members of the reading specialist team were complimented by board members present for their efforts toward improving reading in the elementary grades.

Anthony Perreira, district coordinator of special education and guidance, assisted Dahl in reporting the scores of sixth graders. The scores followed the expected performance level indicated by average district intelligence scores.

The results indicated that sixth grade achievement scores were high in reading comprehension, language expression and mathematics application. Arithmetic computational skills and language mechanics, although lower, compared with the actual state performance levels.

The median IQ score for sixth graders, according to the Lorge-Thorndike Intelligence test, was 100.05, a drop of .39 from the 1971 median score of 100.44.
